EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION AND CARE

COURSE GUIDE

WHY STUDY EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION AND CARE COURSES?

Early childhood educators play a vital role in giving Australia's youngest generation a quality play-based learning experience, including kindergarten/preschool programs, before commencing formal schooling.

According to Government projections, Australia's workforce faces a skills shortage in key sectors — and an influx of qualified workers are needed. With early childhood education right near the top of that list, now could be the time to explore how to become an early childhood educator.

The latest employment statistics suggest that there are over 1.3 million children across over 974,600 families using approved early learning services in Australia, more than 3000 early childhood educators are needed in Sydney alone, and 16,000 are needed across the country. So, there is a very strong, ongoing demand for qualified, skilled candidates to take on the roles of early childhood educators and teachers. The number of service providers continues to grow annually, and the demand for early childhood professionals is expected to remain strong.

The knowledge and skills from your learning, including:

- ✓ First aid in an education and care setting
- ✓ Workplace and safety
- ✓ Positive and respectful relationships with children
- ✓ Babies and toddlers nurture
- ✓ Managing and responding to children and young people at risk
- ✓ Managing team diversity and effectiveness
- ✓ Planning and implementation of children's education and care curriculum
- ✓ Partnership with children's family
- ✓ Improvement in professional practice

Hand-on and creative experience

In addition to classroom work, graduates from these courses often get the opportunity to provide their children with unique hands-on learning experiences. Instead of showing children colors on paper, they will often use other resources such as blocks, toys, sand, and water to help them learn shape, texture, colors, numbers, and elements.

A very rewarding field

Early childhood educators have the very real opportunity to make a difference in young lives, and also influence future generations. They get to ensure that children get off a good start in their lives and in their learning. They get to teach students things that they'll carry for life. They get to help children explore and succeed, and witness incredible achievements like, "I did it!" in the end.

More career options

Not only is the field of early childhood education constantly growing and expanding, it also provides an array of opportunities for those just starting out. When you choose to study early childhood education, that does not mean you are choosing a single career like a preschool or daycare teacher. Rather, the field stretches far beyond that.

Bright career outlook

There is always – and will always be – a need for education. If you are looking for an in-demand career, with opportunities now and in the future, early childhood education is a very viable option. According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, early childhood educators and workers can expect a bright job outlook.

CERTIFICATE III IN Early Childhood Education and Care

This qualification reflects the role of educators in early childhood education and care who work in regulated children's education and care services in Australia. They support children's wellbeing, and development in the context of an approved learning framework. Educators use a range of well-developed skills and knowledge using discretion and judgment when carrying out their work in the context of established policies and procedures. They may work independently or under the guidance of others, though in some contexts that guidance may not be on-site. Early childhood educators work in long day care centres, family day care, pre-schools or kindergartens.
